

WHO DID PATRICK'S HOMEWORK-CAROL MOORE

Carol Moore

Anne Carroll Moore was an American educator, writer and advocate for children's libraries. She was a Teacher, writer and a Librarian

Born: 12 July 1871, Limerick, Maine, United States

Died: 20 January 1961, New York, New York, United States

Nationality: American

SUMMARY:

This is the story of a boy named Patrick. He is a boy of your age just like you. But he did not like the homework. This is the story of a boy named Patrick. He is a boy of your age just like you. But he did not like the homework.

One day he saw his cat playing with a doll. Amused Patrick picks the doll. To his surprise, he found out that the doll is an elf.

The elf said he would grant a wish if Patrick saves him from the cat.

Patrick was happy as he got what he wanted. Patrick told the elf that he would have to write my homework for the whole semester.

The elf agreed. But the elf did not know any subject. For any English word, he started asking Patrick to speak the word letter by letter; for maths, he started asking for help every time.

Throughout the whole semester, Patrick was busy guiding the elf. In the last when the semester ended, he got A's in his homework.

His friends were surprised, and the teacher praised him for work.

Peter went home, cleaned the room, started living happily and cheerful. This time he was solving the homework by own. He still thinks that the Elf did the homework!

Moral of the story: Self help works wonder

ELF

(an imaginary being, often like a small person with pointed ears, in popular stories)

IMPORTANR CHARACTERS:

Patrick

Teacher

Cat

Elf