

Misconception Alerts	• Climate change and other environmental challenges are not affecting me personally. • I live in the city. “Nature” and natural ecosystems are “out there” in the country or wilderness, so protecting nature isn’t relevant to me. • Students believe that they are not part of the environment and that they have very limited connections to it (all misconceptions address while teaching the topics)
----------------------	--