A Beautiful Cloth

1. MS_Objectives_A Beautiful Cloth

Notes to the teacher: This asset lays down the proposed plan for transacting this chapter. It states the asset objectives of the MLP.

This asset is for teacher's reference and need not be taught to the students.

The students will be able to:

- ❖ correlate seasons and clothing
- ❖ compare the material, texture, and design of a cloth
- ❖ appreciate the designs on the clothes
- ❖ appreciate different types of embroideries
- ❖ relate to reuse, recycle, and refuse of clothes in their day-to-day life
- ❖ design a greeting card using vegetable blocks
- ❖ recollect about the beautiful cloth
- ❖ practice thinking differently

3. MS_Choice of clothes

Clothing is one of the basic requirements. Early man used leaves, bark of trees and skin of animals as clothes. In the present times clothes are made of fibers (thin threads) which are woven into fabrics with the help of a loom. This fabric is then stitched into a variety of clothes or garments such as shirts, pants, frocks, skirts etc.

But some clothes or garments are worn unstitched also. They can be draped or wrapped in many ways. For example: sarees, dupatta, lungi, turban etc.

The garments we wear is made of different materials, colours, textures and designs. The material can be cotton or silk or wool. The colours of the garments can be bright, dull or multicoloured. Some garments have a soft, shiny, or smooth texture or some may be rough. People like to wear plain as well as printed clothes.

Clothes are made attractive by weaving different patterns with colorful threads or by printing designs on them. People all over the world wear different types of clothes or garments.

Notes to teachers: The teacher can start the class by discussing the topic clothes. The teacher can take the help of Smart Chart given above to revise.

A few terms:

Fibres: thin threads

Weave: to pass threads over and under each other.

Texture: how clothes feel when you touch

Loom: a machine used to weave fibre

4. IA_Designing clothes

Clothes are worn plain or printed. Clothes are made attractive:

- ❖ by weaving different and colorful patterns
- ❖ by printing designs

A few methods of printing designs on the clothes are:

1. Block printing: Different designs are carved on wooden blocks. The blocks are then dipped in different dyes and then are pressed on clothes to print the design. This process is known as block printing.

2. Tie and dye: In this tie and dye process, knots are tied into the cloth at different places using thread rubbed in wax. The cloth is dyed and dried and then the knots are opened. A beautiful pattern is formed.
3. Vegetable printing: This is done by cutting and dipping vegetables in paint. The vegetables are then pressed on the cloth to be printed, to form beautiful patterns

4. Embroidery: It is a method of creating patterns on a cloth with the help of a needle and colourful threads. Nowadays, beautiful embroidery can be done with the help of sewing machines.

5. SA_Block printing

Aim: To design a greeting card by block printing using potatoes and lady's finger.

Materials Required:

Ivory sheet, potatoes, lady's finger, poster colours and a small knife.

Procedure:

Cut a lady's finger and a potato horizontally.

Cut the ivory sheet in such a way so that by folding it into half a greeting card is obtained.

Apply colour on the cut face of lady's finger, potato and make patterns by pressing the cut end on your greeting card.

Fabric colours can be used for printing on a piece of cloth.

Conclusion:

Students will be able to design greeting cards using vegetable printing.

Notes to the teacher:

The teacher should make sure that the materials are readily available for the activity.

Precaution:

The knife should be used by the teacher to cut the vegetables and care must be taken while using it. Vegetables must be fresh. Use of excess colour on the vegetable may be avoided to prevent smudging.

7. DD_ Reuse and Refuse

Reuse

- The old clothes of an older child can be used by younger ones.
- Clothes can be shared by various members of a family.
- Old clothes are given to poor people, maids, and orphanages.
- People and children who receive those clothes reuse them.
- Shopping bags, soft toys and decorative materials could be reused.

Recycle

- Old clothes could be converted into door mats, curtains, pillow covers, and quilts and so on.

Refuse

- We should cultivate the habit of buying only necessary clothes and try to avoid buying clothes unnecessarily.

Notes to teachers: Teachers may discuss the following points with the students and make the students understand the relevance of practicing them.

8. VC_Do things in a creative way

Story of a blind boy

It was morning time on a busy road. By the side of the road, a blind boy was seated with a hat as a begging bowl. Next to him was a small signboard "I am blind. Please help me." Nobody bothered about him and once a while passersby dropped coins in his hat.

A boy was walking to school, came near him, dropped a coin, and saw the sign board, turned it the other side, took a marker pen from his bag, wrote something, and kept the board back next to the blind boy, wished him good luck and left.

Soon the hat began to fill up. People were stopping in front of him and dropping money in his hat. By the evening the other boy who was returning back from school, came near the blind boy to see how things were going on with him.

The blind boy recognized his footsteps, wished him, and asked, "Were you the one who changed the writing on my board this morning? What did you write? People were giving me money."

The other boy told him "I didn't do much, wrote the same truth in a different way." And said I wrote "Today is a beautiful day! But I cannot see it."

What do you think? What is the difference between the signs?

Both the signs told the people that the boy is blind and can't see. The blind boy's sign asked for money. The other boy's sign told people that they are all able to enjoy the beauty of the day, but the blind boy couldn't enjoy it because of his blindness.

The boy's idea of writing the same thought in a creative way helped the blind boy immensely. The blind boy could have been ignored completely after some time because of the previous writing. The new idea of the boy created more compassion in the hearts of the passers-by.

Creativity is an important part of designing clothes. Had there been no creativity the clothes would be dull and boring to wear. Creativity in designing clothes not only gives happiness but also gives the person wearing it confidence and happiness.

Learning – creativity results in a happy and positive mood
